Briefly describe your sense of God's call into mission and service in the Synod through this office:

I have been discerning the past couple years how God is calling me into a new area of ministry. I have been led to see how God can use my experiences and gifts to serve more directly in the world and meet people's real needs. I am committed to continually learning and growing as a leader and servant.

Describe your skills and experiences that would be an asset to this office:

Recognizing the spiritual gifts in others and helping others realize the God-given gifts they have to use to serve others. Recruiting volunteers and equipping them to make a positive difference in other lives. I have organized many events that focus on how to meet the needs in the community.
