Briefly describe your sense of God's call into mission and service in the Synod through this office:

I believe my God calling into this mission and service through this committee is closely aligned with the values, moral ethics, the moments and experiences I received in what has shaped me to become the person I presently am. I have a sense of compassion and observe with love and logic. I am an educator and practiced daily, in continuing to build connections and relationships. I support individuals academically and help others understand each other's truth. It is within one's perspective truth is shaped. I serve my community in facilitating and training individuals in diversity, identity, and equity work. In regard to one's actions uphold by unconditional love in the making of positive regard and a holistic approach to change. I want to continue my drive to call in situations grounded in speaking truth, relationship healing, and hope building to the generations to come.
